EXPLORE THE PACIFIC

Come with us and enjoy the wonders of the Pacific North of Costa Rica. Surrounded by nature and the rich history and culture of our people. Nicoya is famous as one of the world's Blue Zones, where life expectancy is higher because of the Chorotega traditions and the PURA VIDA philosophy!

This region is characterized by the beauty of the tropical dry forest, the breathtaking scenery of the sea, and the many secrets of the abundant sea life. We will explore the coastline, underwater, and the many inhabitants of the sea. Explore Samara beach and Isla Chora, a biological treasure where we will stop on our many expeditions. Neighboring Carrillo Beach is considered the best beach in the Pacific North, awarded with the Blue Flag, an award given for its cleanliness and environmental awareness.

Either drift into the ocean by kayak, cruise on our catamaran, or paddle away; this is a sea experience you won't forget. Accompanied by our certified guides and captains, the ocean will be the main attraction!

CATAMARAN SEAFARI 2 IN 1

Explore the Pacific Ocean with local certified guides and captains! We are home to bottlenose, spinner, and spotted dolphins, with visibility all year long. We are able to sightsee these amazing creatures up close. From mid July until October, and from January to March, the clear waters are also a migratory route for humpback whales that are heading south; our waters serve as breeding and nursery sanctuaries for their calves. After exploring the surface, we will start our underwater exploration, we provide all the equipment!

TROPICAL DRY FOREST

Costa Rica is widely known for its natural beauty; around 25% of the country is protected by National parks, Biological Reserves, and different environmental programs.

Holding around 6% of the world's biodiversity, Costa Rica is home to 1000 species of orchids, 10.000 plant species, 300.000 insect species of which 1300 are butterfly species, 232 mammal species, 838 types of birds, 183 amphibian species, 258 reptile species, and 130 species of freshwater fishes.

Our Nature Tours are the best way to experience nature and be amazed by the wide variety of colors, sound, movement, and life. You can take a hike, ride a bike while exploring backroads; calmly paddle in the river, while waiting for our wild neighbors to show up. Learn about our customs and traditions on a coffee tour, or even just sit quietly at the beach while waiting for the turtles to delight us with their beauty spawning on the beach.

Enjoy discovering the intricate creatures, plants, and history of our country; you can be by yourself or take your whole family, either way, you will be in great company. Welcome to paradise and what is considered one of the happiest countries on earth! Are you up for the adventure?

TROPICAL DRY FOREST

The tropical dry forest is one of the most vulnerable and rare biomes of Central America. In Guanacaste, the characteristic six-month dry season leaves the land susceptible to wildfires that often devastate the forest and its wildlife. As if this was not enough, over the past 40 years widespread deforestation and large scale agriculture have reduced the dry forests to a mere fraction of what they were in the past. Undoubtedly this type of forest houses one of the most interesting and complex ecosystems of the area; the natural scarcity of water has caused wildlife to evolve and thrive in an environment with fewer nutrients than other tropical forests while also maintaining the ability to endure six months of intense tropical rain.

ADVENTURE

Located in Playa Samara, this hiking tour is an experience you will not forget. We have successfully created an invigorating environment for our visitors where adventure, deep contact with nature, learning about local and native traditions, are all enjoyed on a relaxing tour

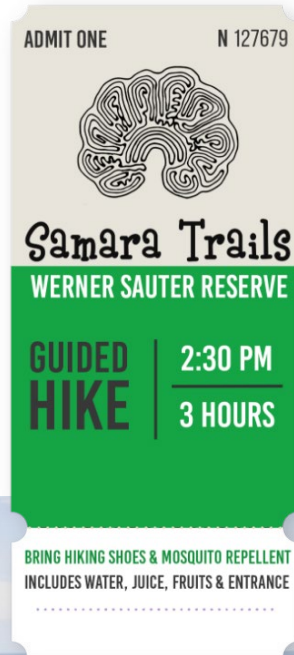

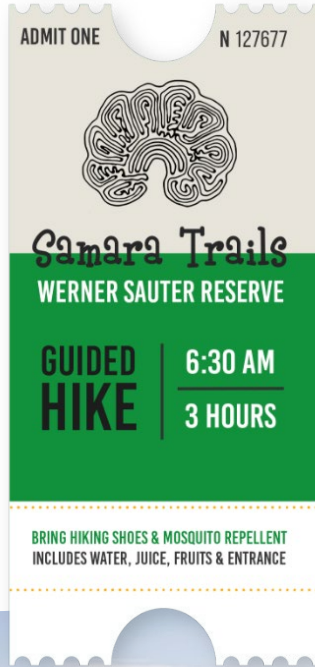

HISTORY

This hike starts in a former cattle farm, continues through a mango plantation, and finally takes you to the reserve where nature runs wild. We want you to feel, breathe and experience the unique tropical dry forest. Here you will learn about the native plants and animals, as well as the rich and interesting history of the native peoples who inhabited the land long before the time of Columbus.

MONTEVERDE CLOUD FOREST

The small community of Monteverde is famous for its association with the Monteverde Cloud Forest Biological Reserve. This small town located near the entrance to the Cloud Forest, was founded by the Quaker or vaquera community that migrated from North America to Costa Rica in the 1950s. Although it is currently not a town like others, with houses scattered everywhere. This hamlet has been developed by itself to be able to accommodate a large number of tourists who pass through. The weather here is a bit cold and foggy, because the town is at the top of the Tilaran mountain range, you should bring warm clothes and a waterproof jacket to stay warm!

This natural 'waterwheel' is what maintains Costa Rica's impressive ecosystem; within the cloud forests of Monteverde, Costa Rica, you'll find:

- Tens of thousands of diverse insects.
- 2,500 species of plants (420 are strictly orchids).
- 400 varieties of birds.
- Over 100 types of mammals.

GUANACASTE

Guanacaste is considered the tourist destination par excellence of Costa Rica. The province has diverse attractions that include beach, mountains, rivers, lakes and forests, which have been highlighted on many occasions. National and foreign tourism is attracted by the opportunity to carry out activities that invite you to relax, forget stress and enjoy, as well as practice water sports, extreme sports, walks and observation of biodiversity.

The province experiences little rain and consistent heat from November to April, resulting in ubiquitous tropical dry forests. Most of the population descends from a mix of Chorotega natives and Spaniards, with a significant African admixture. Among the main cultural elements are music, literature (folklore), musical instruments, bullfighting, and religious events. Guanacaste's beaches are very popular in Costa Rica for their biological richness, their great scenic appeal, and various recreational activities, and ideal hot climate.
